Ashton Thomas Private Wealth has been named on of Citywire RIA's Future 50 firms. According to Citywire RIA, whose team of US journalists are based in New York City, the list reveals the 50 registered investment advisor firms that best represent their vision of the future of the RIA community.

CEO, Aaron Brodt, and Director of Business Development, William Cerynik, accepted the award at a reception hosted by Citywire in Austin, Texas.

"We're honored to be recognized along with this elite group of thought and change leaders in our industry," Brodt said. "The wealth management space is undergoing massive disruption right now. Staying at the leading edge of those changes is critical to the long-term success of our clients and our advisors. We're grateful to be recognized for our accomplishments, but there is still work to be done."

Citywire held an open call for RIA firms to complete a survey detailing their growth trajectory, degree of independence, percentage of income derived from fee-based services, and diversity and sustainability policies in place. Using a proprietary scoring system, the industry media enterprise evaluated firms based on their degree of independence and the above criteria. The resulting Future 50, according to Citywire, is a "robust list of 50 firms striving to be the best of the crop in the RIA community."
